South Bethlehein, Pa., September 10.
Upon one of the most important missions he has ever set out, C. M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Company, is about ready to sail for China. That country is about ready to award the contract for ships and armament for a hig new navy.

Because of his country's friendship for the Chinese during the Boxer troubles, several years ago, and the return to China of the indemnity award of several million dollars, that country has practically signified its intention of giving to America a major portion of the contracts for the construction of the mew navy.

When Mr. Schwab was in Europe a few months ago he had a conference with a high Chinese official, and this hurried trip to the Orient is in direct line with the conference held then.
